

Trimedec Supply Network Ltd. Increasing Access Of Pre-Seed(R) 'Fertility-Friendly' Lubricant In Canada

Valleyford, WA (MMD Newswire) December 8, 2009 -- Pre~Seed(R) 'fertility-friendly' Lubricant (INGfertility, Valleyford, WA, www.preseed.com) is partnering with Trimedec Supply Network Ltd. to expand access to its product line for couples in Canada who are trying to become pregnant. Trimedec Supply Network supplies women's clinics and pharmacies throughout Canada with innovative products and is now making Pre~Seed (R) more widely available throughout Canada.

Pre~Seed(R) has received the only clearance by the FDA for a lubricant that is "safe to use when trying to conceive." "The Pre~Seed(R) formula mimics fertile cervical mucus and does not interfere with sperm function, fertilization or embryo development," according to Pharmacist and INGfertility CEO Dr. Dennis Clifton.

"Trying to conceive is a big issue," states Clifton. At least 90 million couples worldwide are trying to become pregnant. With only a 20% average chance of becoming pregnant each cycle, couples can become stressed, leading to anxiety and increased vaginal dryness. "Unfortunately," notes Clifton, "most personal lubricants and even saliva can harm sperm. Pre~Seed's(R) mild and safe formula provides moisture inside the vagina, where trying-to-conceive couples need it most."

"The use of Pre~Seed(R) for trying-to-conceive couples is recommended by many fertility experts and leading medical organizations," states Clifton. "Although a large number of pharmacies and women's clinics currently carry Pre~Seed(R), consumers have been requesting that the product be available in even more stores across Canada. Trimedec is providing us with a tremendous increase in numbers of stores and clinics where couples can purchase Pre~Seed(R)."
